a. Civilian Personnel: We were recently informed that AFPC will begin using 90-day registers for some merit promotion vacancies occurring at VAFB. At this time, all positions being filled for Administrative/Clerical positions are affected by this change. What this means to our civilian workforce is that not every vacancy will be announced if it occurs within the same 90-day period as a similar open announcement. A register will be established when it is anticipated that several positions with the same title, series, grade, and job specialty will be vacant in a 90-day period. The new announcements will state, "This announcement may be used to fill like vacancies within the same geographical location for 90 days." This also means employees will not be able to self-nominate for each vacancy as it occurs. Employees are encouraged to self-nominate for all announcements within their area of interest as they become available, even though the individual vacancy will not be identified. Referrals will be made from the original announcement for all vacancies that occur during the "life" of the register, which will be in 90-day increments. Individuals who are selected for a vacancy, or those no longer available for referral will be removed from the register, and only the remaining eligible candidates will be sent to management for subsequent consideration. Contact the Affirmative Employment Section of the Civilian Personnel Office at 6-3641 if you require additional information. (30MSS/DPCS)
